2

For whether abſent or in View,
My thoughts are fondly bent on you,
When in my Dreams I'm full of Glee,
And in my Arms embracing thee,
DANS VOTRE Lit.

3

But ſoon as Dawn appears, my Fair,
The bliſsfull Viſion's loſt in Air,
Conſent, and you ſhall Quickly ſee,
'Twill make it ſweet reality,
DANS VOTRE Lit.

4

The ſoft Confeſsion make, my Fair,
And with it glad my raptur'd Ear,
And in return I'll ſwear to thee,
Ten thouſand Worlds I'd give to be
DANS VOTRE Lit.

For the German Flute.

For the Guittar.
